15.Multidisciplinary / interdisciplinary
Multidisciplinary or Interdisciplinary studies involves the combination of two or more academic disciplinea into one. It draws knowledge from several other fields like sociology economics history political science etc. It is about creating something by thinking across boundaries. It is related to an interdisciplinary field which is an organizational unit that crosses traditional boundaries between academic discipline of schools of thought as new needs and professions emerge. The term interdisciplinary is applied within education and training pedagogies to describe studies that use methods and insights ofseveral established disciplines or traditional fields ofstudy.interdisciplinary involves, students teachers and researchers inthe goals of connecting and integrating several academic scolhoolof thought..In education, research and innovation today, we oftenhear the terms ?"interdisciplinary" and ?"multidisciplinary".Many of us may use these terms without understanding what exactlythey mean.As described by Choic and Pak ?"Interdisciplinarity analyses,synthesizes, and harmonizes links between disciplines intoa coordinated and coherent whole."Multidisciplinarity is defined as viewing the same object from the viewpoint of different disciplines.
16.Academic bank of credits (ABC):
It is an academic service mechanism for storing and transferringacademic credits of a student. The scheme is in line with the newNational Educational Ploicy 2020. it is envisaged that holds thecredit earned by a student in any course. It shall be established on the lines of the National Academic Depository which stores a student's academic documents and shall have a website providing all details of ABC. It will be rolled out for students in over 290 top institutions from the current academic year 2021-22 onwards..Academic Bank of Credits will digitally store the academic credits earned by students from higher education institutions registered with ABC, for awarding degrees/diplomas/certificates considering credits earned by student.Academic credit means the indication or certification by a community college that a student has completed a unit of study or demonstrated achievement or proficiency, so as to have satisfied a portion of the requirements for a degree or other academic recognition offered by the community college.A standard full-time study load is usually 30 credit hours per year.Typically, in order to graduate with a degree, universities expect students to complete: 120-130 credit hours for a Bachelor's degree. 30-64 credit hours for a Master's degree.

17.Skill development:

The development of skills can contribute to structural transformation and economic growth by enhancing employability and labor productivity and helping countries to become more competitive.The scheme was launched on 2nd October 2016 with the following objectives: Provide fresh skill development training to school dropouts, college dropouts and unemployed youth through short term courses. Recognise the skill available of the current work force through skill certification.Capacity enhancement and skill development schemes were designed to sharpen the students and improve their skills to retain their knowledge. This will help the students do their jobs competently. Skill development may be different types. The following are the few examples of capacity enhancement and skill development.

1. Soft skill development
2. Language and communication skill development
3. Yoga and wellness
4. Analytical skill development
5. Human values development
6. Personality and professional development
7. Employability skill development

18.Appropriate integration of Indian Knowledge system (teaching in Indian Language, culture, using online course)

"Knowledge of India" will include knowledge from ancient India and modern India, and a clear sense of India's future aspirations with regard to education, health, environment, etc. These elements will be incorporated in an accurate and scientific manner throughout the school curriculum wherever relevant; in particular, Indian Knowledge Systems, including tribal knowledge and indigenous and traditional ways of learning, will be covered. Crores of people from around the world partake in, enjoy, and benefit from the cultural wealth of India daily, in the form of visiting India for tourism, experiencing Indian hospitality, purchasing India's handicrafts and handmade textiles, reading the classical literature of India, practicing yoga and meditation, being inspired by Indian philosophy, participating in India's unique festivals, appreciating India's diverse music and art, and watching Indian films, amongst many other aspects. Cultural awareness and expression are among the major competencies considered important to develop in children, in order to provide them with a sense of identity, belonging, as well as an appreciation of other cultures and identities. It is through the development of a strong sense and knowledge of their own cultural history, arts, languages, and traditions that children can build a positive cultural identity and self-esteem. Language, of course, is inextricably linked to art and culture. In particular, languages influence the way people of a given culture speak with others, including with family members, authority figures, peers, and strangers, and influence the tone of conversation. The tone, perception of experience, and familiarity/'apnapan' inherent in conversations among speakers of a common language are a reflection and record of a culture. Art, in the form of literature, plays, music, film, etc. cannot be fully appreciated without language. In order to preserve and promote culture, one must preserve and promote a culture's languages.

19. Focus on Outcome based education (OBE): Focus on Outcome based education (OBE):

Outcome-based education or outcomes-based education (OBE) is an educational theory that bases each part of an educational system around goals (outcomes). By the end of the educational experience, each student should have achieved the goal here is no single specified style of teaching or assessment in OBE; instead, classes, opportunities, and assessments should all help students achieve the specified outcomes. The role of the faculty adapts into instructor, trainer, facilitator, and/or mentor based on the outcomes targeted. Outcome-based methods have been adopted in education systems around the world, at multiple levels. Australia and South Africa adopted OBE policies from the 1990s to the mid 2000s, but were abandoned in the face of substantial community opposition. OBE can primarily be distinguished from traditional education method by the way it incorporates three elements: theory of education, a systematic structure for education, and a specific approach to instructional practice. It organizes the entire educational system towards what are considered essential for the learners to successfully do at the end of their learning experiences. In this model, the term "outcome" is the core concept and sometimes used interchangeably with the terms "competency, "standards, "benchmarks", and "attainment targets". OBE also uses the same methodology formally and informally adopted in actual workplace to achieve outcomes.

20. Distance education/online education:

Distance learning, also called distance education, e-learning, and online learning, form of education in which the main elements include physical separation of teachers and students during instruction and the use of various technologies to facilitate student-teacher and student-student communication.. Distance or online learning traditionally has focused on nontraditional students, such as full-time workers, military personnel, and nonresidents or individuals in remote regions who are unable to attend classroom lectures. However, distance learning has become an established part of the educational world, with trends pointing to ongoing growth. An increasing number of universities provide distance learning opportunities. A precise figure for the international enrollment in distance learning is unavailable, but the enrollment at two of the largest public universities that heavily utilize distance learning methods gives some indication: in the early 21st century the Indira Gandhi National Open University, headquartered in , had an enrollment in excess of 1.5 million students, and the China Central Radio and TV University, headquartered in Beijing, had more than 500,000 students. Students and institutions embrace distance learning with good reason. Universities benefit by adding students without having to construct classrooms and housing, and students reap the advantages of being able to work where and when they choose. Public-school systems offer specialty courses such as small enrollment languages and Advanced Placement classes without having to set up multiple classrooms. In addition, homeschooled students gain access to centralized instruction.

2.2 - Catering to Student Diversity

2.2.1 - The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organizes special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

While getting admission to the college, the college staff clear all hurdles of students. Whenever students face any difficulty (for example, in selecting a proper subject) our teachers help them with proper counseling. Once admission process is completed and students start attending the classes, the college organize a fresher party for them. At that function, new students get a chance to be familiar with the old students, the college and the teachers. Here teachers get some idea about the abilities of new students. Strategies for Slow Learners: Based on students' performance in the classroom and examination, the subject teacher identifies the slow learners. Once their identification is completed, the subject teacher makes a list of them. Then he/she arranges extra/remedial classes for them. In that classes, the concerned teacher not only clears their doubts but also re-teaches some difficult topics of the syllabus. Strategies for Advanced Learners: With a viewpoint to boost up the already possessed and advanced learners, the institute takes up some initiatives like offering roles of leadership in several programs, organized within or outside of the institute. Apart from this, workshops, seminars, guest lectures, aptitude and communication skills improvement programs are conducted from time to time at the institute.

2.3.2 - Teachers use ICT enabled tools for effective teaching-learning process. Write description in maximum of 200 words

The Teachers think that teaching with digital devices is just time consuming. But it is not so the teachers who have the allergy of ICT teaching but they handle smart phones by a smart way and even their children are computer engineers and they tell others very proudly that their son and daughter are computer or software engineers. But when the thing of digital teaching in colleges they become lethargic, indifferent and dull. Probably such teachers perform their formalities by the formal ways. they dont have interest in students and in their future. A teacher should be innovative, experimental and updated. The new generation might not like the one way lecture method of teachings so the teacher should adapt with the students likeness. Since we say that the teaching should be student centric every teacher must learn to handle laptop and internet. this way of teaching has the immaculate effect on students. In our college we have Eleven permanent teachers and we have only one digital room. Every teacher goes to that digital room whenever he feels that something should display on the screen. Then he shows that abstract things or ideas through images or through Google & You Tube etc.

7.2 - Best Practices

7.2.1 - Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

BEST PRACTICES 2021-22

Preface to the Best Practices

In the session 2021-22 the two best practices had been run by the library department.

1. Periodical Book Exhibition organized by Library Department:

Whereas the very purpose of this practice has been explained in the very beginning. The exhibition of book helps students to love books and to read books. As we know that reading makes a person perfect. The exhibition of books manifests the world books. And the students realize that there is no best friend other than books. The exhibition of books makes students' philosopher, an ideal and studious student. From the last year the library is twicely organizing the book exhibition in the premises of the college. This best practice is helping students very much to attract them to the library.

1. Newspaper Reading Corner for Student:

In this second best practice the students are asked to notice the special and unique news in the newspaper regarding their career, employment and which will add a special knowledge into their existence knowledge. And then they are asked to cut that news from the newspaper and then they are asked to display it on the main notice board of the library. Whenever the students come in the library they are attracted by that catchy news corner and thus the students get familiar with that special news and information. The newspapers stands have been arranged in front of the library.
